

Bucuti News & Updates

While our powder-white sand beaches and warm tropical breeze attract many, in this newsletter, I encourage our guests to experience Aruba's beauty and luminosity — beyond the beach.

We will introduce you to Aruba's blossoming art scene, present a local artist whose work is both collected internationally and resides in our guest rooms, and we'll acquaint you with Sofie Slegers whose Tai Chi course on our beach in a transcendent experience. Finally, we will give you good news from the World Health Organization about the absence of Zika in our region.

With peace, love and happiness ... naturally,

Ewald Biemans
Owner and CEO

Aruba's Cultural Capital, San Nicolas

Meet "Alice," who is equally impressive as a street art mural as she is a local heroine and champion of the arts in Aruba. "Alice" is one of the many amazing murals created as part of the Aruba Art Fair taking place each October in San Nicolas

LEARN MORE

Meet Artist Elisa Lejuez

The stunning and colorful original art adorning Bucuti guest rooms & Tara suites is created by an internationally recognized artist who is close to our hearts, Elisa Lejuez

LEARN MORE

Zika Removed as a Threat to the Caribbean Region

Great news! The World Health Organization (WHO) and the Caribbean Public Health Agency have officially removed Zika as a high level threat for the Caribbean region. There have been no reported Zika cases detected for more than 12 months in travelers returning from the Caribbean to their countries.

Determined vigilance and a proactive approach results in no new cases in 12 months.

LEARN MORE

Wellness Profile: Sofie Slegers

If you are looking for a transformational wellness experience, we recommend joining Sofie Slegers our expert Tai Chi instructor for her class, free for our guests every Wednesday morning

MEET SOFIE

Bucuti & Tara Beach Resort

L.G. Smith Boulevard 55B, Oranjestad, Aruba
+297-583-1100 | info@bucuti.com

